

The Scope for the Rivier College Online Academic Journal

This Journal is devoted to reporting advancements in the liberal arts, sciences, education, nursing, and business administration studies. The Online Academic Journal publishes original peer-reviewed papers disclosing developments in philosophy, religious studies, English, communication, history, arts, music, mathematics, computer science, biology, chemistry, social sciences, education, nursing, and business administration studies. The context of the Journal also includes creative work; poetry; short stories; computer-generated images; photographs; articles on College perspectives and programs; work-shop materials; the abstracts of final students' projects and articles, which have been published recently by faculty, students and alumni in other publications; information about conferences, professional societies, and other high-quality materials.