

Rivier UNIVERSITY

M.Ed.

Master of Education in Education Administration

Earn your degree in Education Administration

Advance academic excellence through administrative leadership.

Prepare for Principal roles in elementary, middle,
and secondary schools and receive School
Principal Licensure.

Rivier's M.Ed. in Education Administration provides the theoretical foundations and develops the practical skills required for effective school administration and leadership. As a principal, you'll manage day-to-day school operations; participate in curriculum development; interact with the community, parents, and students; and work to provide a school environment that supports academic success.

Licensure

This degree program leads to School Principal Licensure by the New Hampshire Education Department, which requires a culminating internship in a school setting under the supervision of a licensed school principal. Upon completion of this program, you will be eligible for licensure by the NASDTEC Interstate Agreement.

Choose Rivier

Rivier's M.Ed. programs provide real-world assignments and hands-on experience in the field to help you put theory into practice and develop your skills. This program is based on the standards for licensure identified by the New Hampshire Education Department and incorporates the recommendations of the American Association of School Administrators and the National Association of Secondary School Principals Assessment Center Project. It addresses the competencies identified in the standards for school leaders by the Interstate Leaders Licensure Consortium, a program of the Council of Chief State School Officers.

Courses are offered in 7-week and 14-week terms for added flexibility.
