SECTION I: PROGRAM INFORMATION

Teachers Prepared

On this page, enter the number of program completers by the subject area in which they were prepared to teach, and by their academic majors. Note that an individual can be counted in more than one academic major and subject area. For example, if an individual is prepared to teach Elementary Education and Mathematics, that individual should be counted in both subject areas. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major or subject area, you may leave the cell blank. Please use the "Other" category sparingly, if there is no similar subject area or academic major listed. In these cases, you should use the text box to describe the subject area(s) and/or the academic major(s) counted in the "Other" category.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the program completers in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the program completers in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the program completers for the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the teachers prepared data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

THIS PAGE INCLUDES:

- >> Teachers Prepared by Academic Major

Teachers Prepared by Subject Area

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by subject area for academic year 2023-24.

For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Subject area" refers to the subject area(s) an individual has been prepared to teach. An individual can be counted in more than one subject area. If no individuals were prepared in a particular subject area, please leave that cell blank. (§205(b)(1)(H))

What are CIP Codes?

No teachers prepared in academic year 2023-24

If your program has no teachers prepared, check the box above and leave the table below blank (or clear responses already entered).

What are CIP codes? The Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP) provides a taxonomic scheme that supports the accurate tracking and reporting of fields of study and program completions activity. CIP was originally developed by the U.S. Department of Education's National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) in 1980, with revisions occurring in 1985, 1990, and 2000 (https://nces.ed.gov/ipeds/cipcode/Default.aspx?y=55).

Teachers Prepared by Academic Major

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by academic major for academic year 2023-24. For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Academic major" refers to the actual major(s) declared by the program completer. An individual can be counted in more than one academic major. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major, please leave that cell blank. (§205(b)(1)(H))

Please note that the list of majors includes several "Teacher Education" majors, as well as several noneducation majors. Please use care in entering your majors to ensure education-specific majors and non-education majors are counted correctly. For example, if an individual majored in Chemistry, that individual should be counted in the "Chemistry" academic major category rather than the "Teacher Education—Chemistry" category.

- 8. Describe your institution's most successful strategies in meeting the assurances listed above:
 - (1) The Licensure Officer is a member of the Council of Teacher Education for the State. The Program Director in Education has established relationships with senior administrators in schools and districts. The knowledge and networking with these groups outside the institution help faculty and administrators to understand the needs of New Hampshire's public, private, charter, and parochial schools. Teacher education programs will continue to be reviewed, revised, and added based on need. Disciplinary content in elementary and early childhood programs has been integrated to provide more in-depth coverage of discipline specific content in the preparation of highly qualified teachers as well as the opportunity for expanded field experience and student teaching. Rivier University is consistently reviewing graduate and undergraduate teacher preparation programs to ensure that curricula in all programs reflect current research, recent NH ED standards revisions, advancements in instructional technology, and are well-matched to classroom and student diversity. To this end we are engaged in dialogue with the Commissioner of Education, the State Board of Education, superintendents, NH ED representatives, professionals in the field, and colleagues from other institutions to exchange information and examine multiple models of teacher preparation and field experience. Our doctoral students and faculty conduct doctoral research in schools and communities in education and behavioral health sciences. We have instituted an Education Advisory Council with a membership of 24 to expand our network and communication with educators and schools. We have implemented an electronic portfolio, a field experience management system for streamlining, enhancing, managing and documenting student growth in college courses and in the field. (2) Benchmark Assessment system measures candidate and program effectiveness. (3) Adjunct faculty members include current and former school administrators, and teachers. Student teachers work with an experienced cooperating teacher in the field who holds licensure in the same area as the student teacher who seeks licensure. The teachers in the field help to keep our student teachers aware of the issues and needs of students, teachers, and schools where they may be employed. (4) New Hampshire is facing the challenge of educating an increasingly diverse population. We are focused on understanding the additional developments and trends in literacy education including the increasing number of non-native English speakers and children in poverty. Our commitment is to give teacher candidates a variety of field experiences and student teaching in diverse school settings and locales.

Assessment Pass Rates

The pass rates table is populated from files provided by the testing company or state. The table provides information on the performance of the students in your teacher preparation program on each teacher credential assessment used by your state. In cases where a student has taken a given assessment more than once, the highest score on that test is used. In the case of a teacher preparation program with fewer than 10 scores reported on any single initial teacher credential assessment during an academic year, the program shall collect and publish information with respect to an average pass rate and scaled score on each state credential assessment taken over a three-year period. (§205(a)(1)(B))

Please note that this page does not have an edit feature as the pass rates have already been through several rounds of verification. If you identify an error, please contact RTI's Title II Support Center and your testing company representative.

Summary Pass Rates

The pass rates table is populated from files provided by the testing company or state. The table provides information on the performance of the students in your teacher preparation program on each teacher credential assessment used by your state. In cases where a student has taken a given assessment more than once, the highest score on that test is used. In the case of a teacher preparation program with fewer than 10 scores reported on any single initial teacher credential assessment during an academic year, the program shall collect and publish information with respect to an average pass rate and scaled score on each state credential assessment taken over a three-year period. (§205(a)(1)(B))

Please note that this page does not have an edit feature as the pass rates have already been through several rounds of verification. If you identify an error, please contact RTI's Title II Support Center and your testing company representative.

Use of Technology

1.	Provide the following information about the use of technology in your teacher preparation program.	Please note that choosing	'yes'	indicates that your teacher preparation program would be able to provide evidence upon request. (§205(a)(1)(F))

Does your program prepare teachers to:

- a. integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction
 - Yes
- b. use technology effectively to collect data to improve teaching and learning
 - Yes
- c. use technology effectively to manage data to improve teaching and learning
 - Yes
- d. use technology effectively to analyze data to improve teaching and learning
 - Yes
- 2. Provide a description of the evidence that your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction, and to use technology effectively to collect, manage, and analyze data in order to improve teaching and learning for the purpose of increasing student academic achievement. Include a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to use the principles of universal design for learning, as applicable. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the four elements listed above are not currently in place.
 - 1. Teacher candidates use Canvas, a learning management system for a majority of their coursework, assignments, and instructional resources. Digital library databases are employed as course resources. Teacher candidates use Live Text to create and manage their ePortfolios as well as Field Experience time logs and assessments. The use of Live Text allows for real time coordination of feedback between instructors and cooperating teachers. 2. Teacher candidates take courses that embed the use of technology in the classroom into the teaching and learning process. Teacher candidates explore animation, visual literacy, and multimedia concepts while working in collaborative teams developing blogs, digital stories and other integrated multimedia projects. Teacher candidates conduct analysis of the role of technology in the curriculum, and the impact of technology tools, teaching and learning issues and activities: effective searching, website validation, internet research, plagiarism searches, internet activities, internet field trips, online collaborative projects and productivity tools for teachers. The Regina Library has a number of technology tools available to teacher candidates to integrate technology into classroom instruction. 3. Our curriculum development courses allow teacher candidates to investigate, identify, and use appropriate methodologies to assess the effectiveness of curriculum by reviewing and analyzing student performance data. 4. Our Benchmark Assessment system uses the institution's Learning Management System (LMS), MS Excel, and SPSS to collect and analyze data for continuous improvement. Candidate and program assessment data is systematically collected and analyzed.

- 1. Provide a description of the activities that prepare general education teachers to:
 - a. Teach students with disabilities effectively

Teacher candidates complete a teaching and learning ePortfolio to demonstrate their competence in teaching students with disabilities, participating in collaborative teams, and teaching students with limited English proficiency. Teacher candidates take specific courses aligned with NH ED professional standards and specialized program standards related to teaching students with disabilities. Benchmark assessments are specifically designed to address the NH ED licensure standards related to content, application, and professional responsibilities.

b. Participate as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

Teacher candidates participate in experiential learning at their field experience sites in which team practice of collaboration is modeled. Candidates have the opportunity to see how their scaffolded experience progresses by actively participating in collaborative work with their cooperating practitioners. This practical coursework provides students with opportunities to demonstrate professional responsibility through benchmark assignments like case studies; professional interviews with cooperating practitioners, who are part of the collaborative efforts that benefit our students; and preparation of in-depth resource materials like the description of the learning progression of K-12 students based on assessment data important to the collaborative team model.

c. Effectively teach students who are limited English proficient.

Methods courses require lesson plans that demonstrate modification and adaptation to teach students who are limited in English proficiency. Courses are designed to develop the knowledge, skills and dispositions to teach students with limited English proficiency by modifying and adapting teaching methods and strategies to differentiate instruction. Teacher candidates complete a teaching-learning ePortfolio to demonstrate their competence in teaching students with disabilities, participating in collaborative teams, and teaching students with limited English proficiency.

Please use this space to provide any additional information that describes your teacher preparation program(s). You may also attach information to this report card (see below). The U.S. Department of Education is especially interested in any evaluation plans or interim or final reports that may be available.

At the present time, graduates of our educator preparation program who take the Massachusetts Tests for Educator Licensure (MTEL) or students granted test evaluation waivers are not included in our pass rate. Historically, our pass rate increases over a three year period as more students pass tests.
